Today, our Smart Warehousing team and Pineloch Management Corporation in Orlando, Florida donated their warehouse space to Orlando Health, a not-for-profit network of community and specialty hospitals, so they could work some pallets and create 1,100 care bags for their nurses who had been working overtime and had not had the opportunity to go shopping for themselves following the coronavirus outbreak. Walmart donated the care bag items, Smart Warehousing donated the space, and Orlando Health donated their time. As this pandemic continues to unfold, it is critical that we all come together as one unified force with a shared commitment to rise above this adversity and support our healthcare workers fighting bravely on the frontline. We will get through this together!
